At the meeting, CJK reached a consensus on the direction of multimodal transport information interconnection expansion, and confirmed the joint investigation and research on sea-rail combined transport and China-Europe train transport to promote multi-modal transport information interconnection. On the other hand, the three countries will carry out logistics information interconnection and cooperation with the international regions outside Northeast Asia under the name of NEAL-NET, and promote NEAL-NET to the international field. Finally, the three countries will further optimize NEAL-NET query parameters and enrich existing query methods to enhance user perception.

In addition, according to cooperation mechanism of the Northeast Asia Logistics Information Service Network, the 25th technical meeting of NEAL-NET will be held in China in March 2019.
