

MOM of 23rd NEAL-NET Technical Meeting

Yokohama, Japan, March 16, 2018

1. The results of mutual connection test

- Japan and Korea reported the results of mutual connection test with data provided by China for 4 new expansion ports – dynamic vessel of Dalian, Beihai, Fangcheng, and Qinzhou, and container status of Dalian.
- CJK regarded the results as meeting certain conditions in order for the 8 new ports to be opened officially.
- Japan suggested to open the 8 ports on April after finishing explanation of the situation and coordination with related parties.
- Korea informed system address modification is to be conducted on May.6, and Japan will conduct system address modification on May.13.
- After CJK confirm the result of connection test without problem, CJK will open new ports officially, which will be in mid of May.
- For other existing ports, Japan and Korea requested China to provide data with all status and to keep improving the data quality.
- China will update service port list and NEALNET.org site and Japan and Korea will update on their site accordingly.

2. Questionnaire results analysis

- Japan reported cross tabulation to the questionnaire result and trend derived from it.
- Korea reported survey results and the suggestions on NEAL-NET service improvement from users.
- China suggested expansion of service coverage area and improvement of NEAL-NET standard based on results of questionnaire and user requirement. Japan and Korea agree to consider these two issues.

3. Standard Improvement

- Based on comparison of IPCSA and NEAL-NET, China suggested improvement of NEAL-NET standard for parameters, multimodal connection, return information and interface protocol in NEAL-NET.
- Regarding China's standard proposal, Japan and Korea will discuss internally about the financial priority and human resource.

4. Standard research

- China will give feedback about connection between domestic declaration number and container no. or B/L no. in the end of this year.
- Korea will cooperate with related stakeholders to provide additional container status information.

5. NEAL-NET Steering Committee & Council

- China and Korea referred to NEAL-NET Steering Committee & Council.
- Japan informed that it will be held back to back with 7th Ministerial Conference in July 2018 as agreed in 2nd Directors' meeting.
